GERMANS TAKE POSSESSION OF BOULOGNE: ATTEMPT TO CAPTURE CHANNEL PORTS IS PART OF THE GENERAL MOVE

Rumours About King Leopold, Gort, False

LONDON, MAY 24 (BRITISH WIRELESS).—MILITARY CIRCLES STILL REGARD THE SITUATION IN BELGIUM AND NORTH-WEST FRANCE AS VERY GRAVE.

The Germans took possession of Boulogne last night but it is not known how large are the German forces in Boulogne. Seizure of the town is the development of the drive north from Abbeville.

PRACTICALLY ALL THE BRITISH TROOPS IN BOULOGNE WERE WITHDRAWN SAFELY.

G. B. S. ON MILITARY SITUATION

"WE SHOULD DIE IN LAST DITCH"

LONDON, May 24 (BWS).—The emergency Powers Act, which was welcomed by the financial community no less than by the general public, was the subject of the following comment by the famous author, George Bernard Shaw:

"In two-and-a-half hours this country did what Russia has not yet done in twenty years."

Referring to the military situation, he added, "When Germany made its move to conquer the world, someone had to bell the cat. We took on the job and now for one, or both of us, the hour has come. We are in a very tight corner but what can we do."

"We can either practically surrender, or we can die in the last ditch. I think we should die in the last ditch."

PUBLIC IMPRESSED

The public is greatly impressed by the energy and speed with which the Government have exercised powers under the new Defence Regulations in arresting members of the British-Fascist organisation, including Sir Oswald Mosley.

The Manchester Guardian, emphasising the Home Secretary's statement that the detention was not ordered on account of any opinions held or expressed by such persons, or on account of their propagandist activities, says, "We must not—indeed cannot in default of a fair trial—assume that the detained persons have been guilty of any offense, or are disloyal. But it stands to reason we cannot allow an organisation, remotely sympathetic to the aims of the enemy, to be kept in being when we are in danger of invasion."

"It is not what it is at present but what it might become that matters. That is all there is to it but it is enough."

Contrary to rumours distributed from German sources, King Leopold is still with his Army in Belgium and General Lord Gort, V.C., is with the British Expeditionary Force in northern France. Reuter learns authoritatively in London that presumably, the Germans took possession of Boulogne because they had stronger forces than we were able to deal with.

It is added that, although there is no wish, or intention, to withhold any information from the public, nothing could be said to indicate the places the German detachments had reached, or from which they had been evicted, as in many cases these detachments are isolated and unable to communicate with headquarters.

The German occupation of Boulogne is obviously part of a general move to attempt to capture the Channel ports.

VERY SERIOUS

As it stands the situation is still very serious, states Reuter's Military Correspondent who regards the fact that the Germans, who crossed the Scheldt at Oudenarde have

N.Z. DEFENCE ACT

WELLINGTON, May 24 (Reuter).—The Prime Minister, Mr. P. Fraser, announced that the New Zealand Parliament will meet on May 30 in order to pass a measure similar to the British Emergency Defence Act.

CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE UNSHAKEN

BROADCAST BY DUTCH QUEEN

LONDON, May 24 (Reuter).—"Despite the catastrophe our people had to suffer our confidence in the future remains unshaken," declared Queen Wilhelmina in a moving message which she broadcast to the Dutch East Indies this morning.

Her Majesty said: "In the past our people have gone through great trials which by its trust in God and the love of liberty, have always been able to overcome."

"I wish to tell you not to despair during these dark days. Neither my people, nor my Ministers, nor I myself, hesitated one moment to the Continued on Page 6

Gandhi On Amery Statement

INTERNED NAZIS

CALCUTTA, May 24 (Reuter).—Several Germans who were released from internment recently were taken back today.

ITALIAN MILITARY MACHINE MAY BE PUT IN GEAR SOON

THE ITALIAN MILITARY MACHINE MAY BE PUT IN GEAR during the next few days, it is thought by many reliable observers in Rome according to a Reuter report.

Italy was beflagged yesterday for the nationwide celebrations on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the entry of Italy in the war against Germany.

Political circles decline to admit any contradiction in the attitude of Italy in 1915 and now.

Intervention then, says Popola di Roma, resulted from an internal political travail. Such a travail, it adds, is now at its climax in the new Italy, young, alive, dynamic and anxious for an expansion of power and glory.

H. WICKHAM STEED SAYS

PEOPLE ARE IN FINE FETTER: BRITAIN NOW HAS GOVERNMENT SHE HAD BEEN LOOKING FOR

Allied Plane Purchases In U.S.

OVER 2,000 DELIVERED

NEW YORK, May 24 (Reuter).—Quoting authoritative aviation circles the New York Times gives the following figures for Allied aeroplane purchases in the United States: ordered since the outbreak of war—8,100; delivered—2,300; to be ordered, under contracts, or at present negotiating for—4,000 (including a number of Vultee Sikorsky attack bombers).

An Outstanding Week In History

"The people are in fine fettle and at last we have the Government that we have been looking for," said Mr. H. Wickham Steed, in the course of his broadcast talk from Daventry yesterday, in the "World Affairs" series.

As usual, this eminent journalist gave a very comprehensive review of the week's news and once more he expressed the greatest confidence in the ultimate outcome of the war that is being waged relentlessly against the horrors of Nazism.

Mr. Wickham Steed said that we have had the first really big week of the war and although there may be bigger weeks to follow, he said that at the rate things were going we could not measure time by days or even weeks. No matter what was to come, Mr. Wickham Steed said he felt that the past week would remain as an outstanding one in history.

GENERAL SATISFACTION

Referring to the fact that the people were in fine fettle and that, at last, we had "the Government that we had been looking for," the speaker went on to say that he could not remember anything, since the outbreak of the war which gave the people more satisfaction than the new Act, passed in three hours, giving the Government unlimited control over the lives and property of every citizen in the prosecution of the war against Germany.

"The people have never been more determined to bring the war to a successful conclusion and the Government, too, are no less resolved, and more power to them. Of recent weeks we have many examples of the terrors that follow German occupation of any territory," he said.

SPLENDID EXAMPLES

What are we going to do, he asked, if Hitler should invade this country? Are we going to individually hide in our own private dug-outs and do nothing, or are we all going to rally to the aid of the country, like our fighting sailors and soldiers were doing?

Then, too, there was the example of the splendid boys of the Royal Air Force who have struck with such force and determination at the enemy.

"We have tip top leadership now, said Mr. Wickham Steed, who added that it was really good luck that our leader was both a fighter and a writer. Mr. Winston Churchill has both these qualities and his message, broadcast to the world last Sunday night, was just the right thing at the right time.

The morale of the country may be gauged by the words of the Prime Minister who said that "there will be many men and women in this island who, when the ordeal comes upon them, as come it will, will feel comfort and even pride that they are sharing the perils of our lads at the front—soldiers, sailors, airmen. God bless them—and are drawing away from them part, at least, of the onslaught they have to bear."

Over Score Of Enemy Aircraft Shot Down

The Air Ministry announces, says British Wireless, that R.A.F. fighter aircraft were continuously engaged throughout Thursday on patrol and escort duties over the battle area.

Preliminary reports show that over a score of enemy aircraft were shot down, including a number of Messerschmitt fighters, and at least 25 more were seriously damaged. Eight of our aircraft were reported as shot down, or missing. Four others made forced landings. Large forces of our bomber aircraft have again heavily attacked enemy communications both in the neighbourhood of the fighting front and in Germany.

ENVOYS SEE DALADIER

PARIS, May 24 (Reuter).—M. Daladier, Foreign Minister, last night received the British and American Ambassadors, Marshal Petain and the Polish Charge d'Affaires.

RESOLVED TO SEEK INCREASE IN THE MEMBERSHIP

The importance of putting forward before the public at this time the aims and ideals of the League of Nations was emphasised by Prof. R. S. Robertson at the annual meeting of the League of Nations Society of Hongkong, held at the Helena May Institute yesterday.

Prof. Robertson said that A. N. Macfadyen and Mr. J. Rust the Society must be made a living force, and moved a resolution by which the Society would seek to increase the membership and to hold more frequent meetings to pursue the objects of the League.

Mr. S. V. Boxer, President, was in the chair, supported Dr. K. L. Reichelt and Mrs. E. M. Sando (Secretary).

Among those present were the Rev. K. Mackenzie Dow, Rev. H. R. Wells, Mr. E. H. Himsforth, Mr. M. P. Talati, Prof. R. S. Robertson, Mr.

ENSURED AGAINST SPYING

Canada Takes Action

OTTAWA, May 24 (Reuter).—Mr. E. Lapointe, K.C., Minister of Justice, stated in the House of Commons that the pre-arranged counter-moves against possible Fifth Column activities ensured Canada against espionage, sabotage and subversive activities.

There were 16,643 enemy aliens registered in Canada of whom 261 have been interned. Including Nazis and active Nazi sympathisers, and other suspects.

Mr. Lapointe declared that the police were closely watching the activities of foreign-controlled organisations and added that an "overwhelming majority of foreign born citizens were passionately anti-Nazi."

MUNITIONS INCREASE

Mr. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions, broadcasting last night, said that every industrial and manufacturing resource in Canada was being marshalled with all speed to increase the munitions output.

U.S. Helps Relief In Europe

LONDON, May 24 (Reuter).—The American Red Cross has already contributed $2,000,000 towards relief in Europe and another appeal is being made in the United States to raise $10,000,000.

A ship, which has been specially chartered, is sailing from New York next week with supplies. Another fund, called the Queen Wilhelmina Fund, is being started by prominent persons in America to assist refugees from Holland and Belgium. The fund hopes to raise $3,000,000.

ROBBER SHOT DEAD BY BRITISH POLICE OFFICER IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, MAY 24 (REUTER).—AN EXCITING CHASE AND A FIERCE GUN BATTLE between the police and armed robbers in Nanking Road resulted in the death of one bandit and the wounding of three Chinese and one Sikh constables.

SERGEANT NICOLL DISPLAYED CONSIDERABLE DARING IN following a gangster into a departmental store. The robber opened fire but was shot dead by the officer.

The gun battle began when the police attempted to halt several robbers who stole handbags from women in Nanking Road.

INITIAL APPEARANCE OF H.K. BASEBALL CLUB THIS AFTERNOON

Close Struggle Expected With Chung Hwa

BY R.O.Y.

The HONGKONG BASEBALL CLUB make their first appearance of the season when they tangle with CHUNG HWA at 2.15 p.m. this afternoon. In what is confidently expected to be a close and interesting struggle. Manager "Doc" Molthen, leader of the Club squad, has acquired the services of several Recreio youngsters to fill in his aggregation's weak spots and the Baseballers should prove to be a totally different proposition this season compared to their dismal performance of last year.

On the mound will be Bill "Scoop" Smith who is said to have developed several effective deliveries and great things are expected from him; in support behind the plate, will be Pinky Higgins who, like rare wine, improves with age. "Doc" will hold down the initial station with Pittinghoff at the keystone sack.

On the other side of the infield will be "Honus" Waggoner at short and Tony Alves at the Hot Corner. Outfielders will be Caco Mat-ques. Al Terry and Freddie Barros. On paper, this team compares favourably with the Chung Hwa outfit who registered an unconvincing win over the Royal Engineers last week.

Manager Richard Chung will line-up the same players but expects them to put up a much better showing against the stronger opposition the Clu will provide, and the odds are that they will take the points. Umpires will be "Poochie" Chase, Fuddle-Jumper Wilson and Hal Wing Lee.

SUNDAY MATCH

Tomorrow morning, the only game to be decided will be the MINDANAO-ROYAL ENGINEERS fracas, which is expected to be just an outing for the sailor boys, who put up a grand showing in nosing out the Hongkong Brewers in the opener last Saturday.

Fans will be interested, though, in how the loss of Keplinger and Belke, who have left the colony, is going to affect the team and tomorrow's game should provide a clue. I managed to catch a glimpse of "Flash" Radcliffe warming up the other evening and he appeared to be getting quite a lot of speed on his side-arm delivery, although it is doubtful if he will cause the Mindanao sluggers very much trouble.

Nip Lum will call the game at 10.30 a.m. and will be assisted by Stan "Powerhouse" and Dave "Bambino" Leonard.

As South China are still unable to field a team, their game with the Hongkong Brewers has been put back to the end of the fixture list. What with their match with the Baseballers also being put back, South China will have quite a time rushing through the tail-end of the season.

EMPIRE DAY SERVICE AT CATHEDRALS

Rev. Fr. Gallagher Preaches The Sermon

The special Empire Day Service at the Roman Catholic Cathedral yesterday was very largely attended.

In addition to the many Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, who appeared very smart in their uniforms, students from the various Catholic Schools in the Colony, accompanied by their teachers were present.

The Rev. Fr. Gallagher, S.J., of Wah Yan College preached the sermon. He said:—

"Suffer little children to come unto me for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

These words, my dear children, were spoken by Our Blessed Lord when Peter, fearing that Christ would be wearied by them, wanted to keep them away. They are an invitation to children to go to Jesus.

JUSTICE AND PEACE

All over the British Empire to-day millions of the little ones whom Jesus loved are gathered round His Altar, where He is really and truly present, to ask Him that, once again into this world may come the rule of Justice and Charity, and with it Peace.

You are here for the same purpose. You are praying with those countless others who are asking God with all their hearts and souls that peace may come, for they have fathers and brothers in the fighting line, and they do not know when the news of their death may come. But it must be God's Peace if the world is to be really freed from the horrors which now hold it in their grip. It must be a peace based on God's Law and inspired by the spirit of Christ. It must be a peace through Christ and with Christ and in Christ.

WHEN PEACE REIGNS

Here in this Church, even amid the clash of war, there reigns peace. One feels it as one enters from the noisy bustling world outside. It is not merely in the sacred building itself, but in the hearts of all who enter. The reason is not far to seek. It is because those who enter are with God, and with God in the hearts of those who love God there can be only peace.

Our Holy Father the Pope, knowing how God loves to hear the prayers of children, has asked you to pray in a very special way that the terrible days of war may be shortened, and that those virtues of patience, humility, justice, consideration for others, charity, which are so necessary for real peace, may grow in the hearts of men. They must also grow in your hearts so that you, young as you are, may play your part in bringing the world back to God.

To do so it is not enough to be good only when in church. You must train yourselves to be good always, and you must show your goodness by what you do.

PERFECT OBEDIENCE

You may ask me what you can do. You are few and so young! You will not always be young. You will grow up and become the men and women of the future. You can prepare for that now. You can help to bring the love of God back into the world by being obedient as Jesus was. He obeyed perfectly, though even as a little child. He was infinitely more wise, infinitely more powerful, infinitely greater than Mary and Joseph to whom He was subject.

You can help by never doing, or saying anything that would hurt another and, above all, by never saying or doing anything which would give pain to God. You can help by doing well every little thing you have to do. Your prayers, your work in school, your work at home, your work as scouts and as guides.

INSPIRING EXAMPLE

Their Majesties the King and Queen give an inspiring example to all. In spite of the great worry which this terrible war is causing them, they are every day fulfilling not only the great things which kings and queens must do, but those little things of which the world seems to know nothing. They are kind to others, helping them, giving them courage by their example, smiling bravely though their hearts must be very sad at the sufferings both of the soldiers on the battlefield and the families at home who have lost someone very dear to them. They also give us an example because they live in accordance with God's law, and because they recognise and acknowledge God's power. They pray to God and ask all their subjects to pray also that justice and right may rule and that lasting peace may come to a world torn by war.

PRAYERS WILL BE HEARD

You too, must pray every day for the same thing. You must make every minute of every day a prayer by doing everything for God: by bearing and offering up your little crosses to carry—by doing without things you like and uniting your sacrifices with the sorrows and sufferings of Christ and His Blessed Mother.

God will hear your prayers and soon, please God, the world now so filled with war will find the Peace of Christ in the Kingdom of Christ.

ST. JOHN'S CATHEDRAL

Hundreds of school children, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, as well as members of the public, attended the service for young people, at St. John's Cathedral.

The service was conducted by the Dean, the Very Rev. J. L. Wilson, assisted by Mr. D. Morgan Richards and Prof. L. Forster. Appropriate hymns were sung, led by the Cathedral choir.

The Dean illustrated his sermon with the story of St. Paul and the Roman soldier during his imprisonment in Rome 60 years after the first Christmas day. St. Paul was accorded many privileges in prison, and did a lot of reading and writing. Chained as he was to the Roman soldier, a certain amount of friendship sprang up between them. Watching the soldier cleaning his armour one day, St. Paul felt sorry for the man—sorry at the thought that the man's duty led him to use his weapons to kill others. He recorded what he saw in his letter to the Ephesians.

St. Paul too, continued the Dean, was a soldier—a soldier of Christ, fighting for the Kingdom of Joy, Peace and Love.

FAITH IN CHRIST

Faith in Jesus Christ was very necessary in peace-time than during war, for unless the world were the spiritual armour, it would continually seek to wear the armour of the Roman soldier.

God said, "The greatest among you is he who serves you." The greatness of the British Empire, said the Dean, was built upon the service it rendered to others. Unless the world took a similar creed, wars will continue to break out, and nations will take up arms against each other.

MIGHTY ALLIED EFFORT

THE CONFUSED position on the battle front in Europe appears to be gradually clearing up. One of the most unmistakable facts of the situation is the mighty effort which the Allies are making to halt the terrific drive which the Nazi forces are making to the Channel coast, which would undoubtedly create a serious development, if it succeeded. The full force of the German thrust on this vital objective seems to have been spent, but, as military observers point out, it would be foolhardy to let optimism overrun caution in facing the real facts of a situation, the issue of which is even now being fought out amid the roar of the greatest battle of modern times—a battle which is developing into a veritable armageddon and on the result of which will depend the future of world peace and security.

THE MOST STRIKING example of the determination of the forces of right to throw every ounce of their available means into a mighty effort was demonstrated by the British decision to give the Government absolute power and authority over persons and property in an endeavour to bring about a national mobilization of all possible resources. In response to this step was magnificent and the ruthless might of the totalitarian forces will soon be confronted with a total Allied war effort in every sense of the word. Measures which a quarter of a century ago would have raised storms of protest, have been calmly accepted in a spirit of that grim determination and will to victory with which the Allies are now fighting on behalf of liberty and freedom.

IN THE MEANTIME, sympathy with the Allies is increasing, particularly in the United States, where public opinion is strongly in favour of greater and more substantial help being sent to Britain and France, as the terrible effect which a Nazi victory will have on America's future position is being realised. While the majority of American opinion is taking on an unnecessarily alarmist view of the present position, there is no doubt that calm and dispassionate thinking politicians in the United States feel that their place is now alongside the Allies against the threat which Germany is holding over the world and there is every reason to hope that this opinion will eventually have an important influence on American attitude to the events in Europe.

THE FAR EAST

RUMOURS were freely circulating in Hongkong during the week of the possibility of the war being extended to the Far East. Reason for this was found in a cable report to the effect that Germany, by disclaiming any interest in the status quo of the Netherlands East Indies, had practically given Japan a hint that she could do what she pleased about this important part of the Netherlands Empire. Japan has, of course, expressed so-called deep concern over the position of the Netherlands East Indies, though on what grounds it is difficult to surmise. Colour appears to have been lent to the rumours of her intention to show her hand on this question by a report that Japanese naval units had been concentrating in South China waters during the past week.

IF THERE is any truth in these reports, which, of course, must be treated with the greatest reserve, it would be yet another example of the Japanese militarists doing just the opposite for it was only recently that a Japanese Government spokesman gave an assurance that Japan would not interfere with the status quo of the Netherlands East Indies if third powers would give similar undertakings. These undertakings were presumably given, but the Japanese militarists, with dreams of pursuing the lessons of their Nazi tutors, evidently are beginning to think their own way again. The surest way of extending the war zone to the Far East would be for the Japanese militarists to make this blunder of taking action against the Netherlands—but they will have not only the combined strength of the Allies to counter, but the United States as well, for America has already stated, in no uncertain terms, that she will not stand calmly aside if Japan makes the slightest attempt to interfere with the Netherlands East Indies.

"Orders Are Orders"

FINE SHOW AT THE K.C.C.

BY "PRUDENCE"
The martial note of bugles, and sharp words of command from a distant Barracks Square rang up the curtain at the Kowloon Cricket Club last night, and put the audience in just the right mood for this most amusing skit on military matters—as reviewed in peace-time by those two master mirth-makers, Ian Hay and Anthony Armstrong.

Got up in aid of the Overseas League Tobacco Fund the whole affair reflects very great credit on the Producer Cecil Houghton, and all his assistants, who must have worked at high pressure to put on a play with three scenes and more than twenty characters, in the short space of five weeks. The stage sets are most effective, and the "noises-off," and general air of bustle are so realistic that they made us quite forget the smallness of the stage, and feel part and parcel of the life in a busy Barracks.

The plot concerns the romance of a very nice young Adjutant of a certain Regiment in England, who falls for a pretty girl who is trying to break into Pictures. He can help her career by allowing her film director to take some scenes of British Tommies, but in order to do this permission must be obtained from the Colonel. He is the main stumbling-block to their plan, but the difficulty appears to be overcome when the susceptible Colonel falls for the blandishments of a glamorous American film-star.

Plots and counterplots thicken when the Adjutant's batman, and a certain Private Sles, get together in a combined effort to help on that young officer's matrimonial affairs, while making "a spot on the side." How the General arrives at a most inopportune moment, and the awful tangle which ensues, is all part of a very good story, which must be seen, to be appreciated at its full value.

The chief acting honours should go to Bill Colledge, who gave a splendid performance as Captain Harper (Adjutant). He deserves the highest praise for a very perfect presentation of a most efficient, but human young officer of the modern type, while his pretty sweetheart Fifi, was daintily played by Betty Sharp.

Another brilliant bit of acting was given by W. E. Kirby as The General. It was only a small part, but he played it in a masterly manner.

The two chief comedy leads were taken by Vic Labrum as Private Giffin, and Willie Simpson as Private Sles.

As that comical old scoundrel Giffin, Vic Labrum played the part to life, his eye-work being a joy to behold, while Simpson played up to him, in a part which suited him well.

These two rascallions take all too keen an interest in the messengers, as well as in their master's lady-friends. The scene, where they disguised themselves as "supers" of the film company gave them both unlimited possibilities which were enjoyed by the entire audience.

One or two of the minor characters were inclined to hold up the action by playing rather too slowly, and by making too much of unimportant remarks, but even they were galvanised into action, when R. T. Burch (as Film-Director Waggameyer) came on the scene. Though a newcomer to Hongkong, he has (we learn) done a lot for the Shan' ai A.D.C. and his dynamic personality was admirably

LEAGUE OF NATIONS SOCIETY MEETING

ment. The challenge is not that of transfer of peoples from allegiance to one national group to allegiance to another. It is the transfer of allegiance (if allegiance can be used when the transfer is forcible) from one way of life to another.

Europe has emerged from feudalism into a way of life which we call democracy.

Our attitude is well summed up in Lord Baldwin's statement, "No state that ever was is worthy of a free man's worship."

TOTALITARIAN STATE

Against this view of the relationship of state and citizen has arisen that of the modern totalitarian state, which proclaims not that human personality is supreme, but the state itself; and that, not merely in statecraft, but in every department of life, even attempting to control the private thoughts of its citizens. If science finds itself in conflict with the state, then totalitarian citizenship requires the state must take precedence. Human personality counts for nothing.

Whether this philosophy was created with the object of producing the fighting machine so characteristic of totalitarian states or whether the growth of militarism is the outcome of the philosophy, is an interesting point.

But there are some self-interests that no man has a right to sacrifice, his right to think for himself, for instance. In large sections of the world is the surrender, on the part of many of the younger generation willingly, on the part of others by coercion, of all personal liberties is one of the most amazing and baffling phenomena of modern days.

THE TRAGEDY

The tragedy of the situation is that the decision should rest, as it does, upon force. The triumph of the principle of the supremacy of the state would mean the end, for a time, of a great many things we hold to be sacred. It would certainly mean the end of the League of Nations. That body has not had an altogether glorious career. We, who believe in it, must be the first to admit its faults.

For the League to succeed after this struggle is over, certain inconsistencies in its constitution must be overcome. What are some of these anomalies? The method of conducting the business, the method of representation, in the League Assemblies unanimity is required.

It would appear therefore that two reforms are needed here, first to make the number of representatives proportional to some extent to their constituencies, or, if that makes too large an Assembly, to make the votes cast by representatives in some degree proportional; and secondly to introduce a system of majority voting.

MAIN DRAWBACK

But the main drawback the League has suffered has been lack of means to enforce its decisions. The one example of co-ordinated action was the imposition of sanctions, very half-heartedly, against Italy.

The League has also another serious deficiency inherent in its constitution. It is equipped with an excellent system of laws and the means for pronouncing a judgment. But it does not possess, what every democratic parliament possesses, a legislature.

suited to the part of a forceful American business man.

Willie Robertson seemed to be very much at home as the pompous old Colonel Bellamy, and was at his best when practically blind with fury, while the part of his daughter was prettily played by Peggy Stoneman.

Another success was scored by Janie Weller. She was extremely good as the glamorous Wanda Paluka, who vamps the Colonel with such disastrous effect. Her portrayal of this part should place her in the front rank of our local amateurs.

Nan Moodie did well to step into the part of Constance at such short notice. Peter Wilson struck us as being rather too masculine a type for the effeminate film-hero and did not sufficiently capitalise his good looks. Bob Leigh doubled several small parts and was best as the ubiquitous Benson, while Walter Western thoroughly enjoyed himself as a Q.M. in search of a rat.

I learn with pleasure that all seats are sold for tonight, and should not feel surprised if the successful Producer, Captain Cecil Houghton, had to give way to demands for an extra performance.

Mr. Leung Ye-chiu and his bride, the former Miss Lo Yuen-ling, who were married at the Registry—(King's Studio).

The League lacks power of modifying its own laws. As a result the League has been considered by many merely an instrument for enforcing the status quo.

The present grave situation in Europe is having a profound effect on America, and Americans are now realising that they cannot possibly take an isolationist view without being guilty of ostrich-like self-deception. The experience may play an important part in bringing them into a federal scheme.

Whether federation is feasible or not, one thing is certain. The world as we knew it in 1939 is gone. To create a new order, the totalitarians have endeavoured to create a new system of morals, built on a strange mystical conception of the state.

As we look forward anxiously to the outcome of this struggle, of one thing we can be certain. Truth, righteousness, justice may be eclipsed, they cannot be destroyed. For the sake of ambition and lust of power man may be willing to sacrifice them; but they cannot annihilate them.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

The Hon. Secretary, Mrs. Sando, then, rendered her report. She said:—

Despite adverse conditions I am pleased to announce that our membership has increased during the past year by three.

With the Sino-Japanese war at hand and Europe far from a state of peace we tried to confine our activities to those of social welfare and a study group.

The "Peace" essay competition of school children took place as usual last December and the prize giving was held at St. Stephen's Girls' School.

I still continue to receive correspondence from children abroad which has been passed to children here whose names I had from our last appeal.

In conclusion may I thank all those who have helped the Society in any way, particularly the Press of the Colony who have always been ready to give us their co-operation.

CREDIT BALANCE
Mrs. Sando also read the Hon. Treasurer's report, which stated that the financial position of the Society was satisfactory. There was a credit balance on the year's working of $143.78, while there was also a donation from Sir Robert Ho Tung which was not shown in the accounts.

Mrs. Sando said the Society was grateful to Sir Robert for his continued kindness and support.

The following officers were then elected:—

President:—Dr. J. H. Montgomery.

Vice-Presidents:—Rev. K. MacKenzie Dow, Dr. K. L. Reichelt, Hon. Sir Robert Kotewall, Dr. S. W. Tso and Mr. S. V. Boxer.

Dr. C. T. Wang had been invited to accept nomination as a Vice-President, but had declined owing to pressure of work.

Hon. Secretary:—Mrs. E. M. Sando.

Hon. Treasurer:—Miss Hancock.

Hon. Auditor:—Mr. H. A. Samuel.

PIRATES TAKE GARLIC FROM TRADING JUNK

Forty piculs of garlic were amongst the goods taken away by pirates from a trading junk which was robbed whilst on its way to Hongkong this week.

Chung Sam-tai, master of trading junk No. T3683H, arrived in Hongkong yesterday and told the police that his boat was attacked about 4 a.m. on May 20 east of Ping Hol, in Chinese territory.

IN THREE BOATS
The pirates approached the trading junk in three boats. They put Chung and his crew of five ashore and sailed the junk and its cargo away.

Besides the cargo of garlic, which is valued at $320, there were also 30 piculs of potatoes on board, valued at $120, and small quantities of other produce.

55 CHICKENS STOLEN

Ng Kau, of Pak Tung Wan, Lamma Island, reported to the police that about 2 a.m. yesterday seven men who rowed ashore in a junk broke into his house and stole money amounting to $27.50, 55 chickens and a quantity of clothing.

The robbers were armed, two of them brandishing revolvers. Ng could not identify any of them.

been flung back and the positions securely consolidated as of the utmost importance.

Even if only light elements of German armoured divisions have so far succeeded in penetrating the gap north of the Somme, the correspondent continues, they have already proved themselves tenacious fighters and experts at quick consolidations from which it is afterwards difficult to dislodge them.

For some time yet we must expect the "fluid" character of the present battle to continue. Counter-attacks on either side may be launched, but a big counter-offensive need not be expected until Gen. Weygand is ready with his plans.

Observers who have seen Gen. Weygand since his lightning reconnaissance of the whole front describe him as "calm, unfurled and decisive."

PARIS, May 24 (Reuters)—An official communique issued today states: "In the region of the north the enemy is endeavouring to increase his pressure on the line of the Somme. Our troops are solidly occupying positions gained."

"To the south of Sedan the enemy has continued his attacks without appreciable progress despite the means employed."

B.E.F. WOUNDED

LONDON, May 24 (Reuters)—Three hospital ships with B.E.F. wounded, arrived at a south coast port today from France.

In one of the ships six soldiers died during the crossing. The wounded were taken by trains to hospitals in the Home country.

HEAVY FIGHTING NEAR BOULOGNE

LONDON, May 24 (Reuters)—In the House of Commons yesterday, the Prime Minister announced that German armoured forces had penetrated into the rear of the Allied armies in Belgium and that they are now attempting to derange communications.

Abbeville is now in enemy hands. Heavy fighting is proceeding in and around Boulogne.

This coastal fighting evidently carries with it implications of a serious character.

General Maxime Weygand, Commander-in-Chief of the Allied armies, is conducting operations involving all the Allied armies with a view to restoring and reconstituting their combined front.

GERMAN TROOPS THRUST BACK

PARIS, May 24 (Reuters)—The German troops which earlier yesterday were reported to have crossed the Scheldt near Oudenarde Belgium, were thrust back shortly afterwards, according to semi-official Belgian reports received last night.

According to military sources, a German infantry attack was launched about 4 p.m. at Attigny, between Sedan and Rethel.

The result of the attack is not yet known.

There was violent fighting throughout the day in the region of Valenciennes, Cambrai and Arras.

Numerous engagements resulting, apparently from French initiative also occurred on the Somme.

The position this afternoon according to Paris military circles, was as follows:

In the north, the powerful Allied force holds a solid, continuous and organised front from the north of Bapaume along the Scheldt to Valenciennes, and starting at Cambrai and extending to Arras and the region south of Arras.

COUNTER-ATTACK EXPECTED

LONDON, May 24 (Reuters)—The Germans have broken through the French lines between Arras and Bapaume.

Bapaume is about 15 miles due south of Arras.

Travellers desiring to carry any gold objects, of antiquarian or artistic value, may do so after a valuation of the objects has been made and a sum equivalent to the value deposited with the Customs.

Should such objects not be brought back within a year the regulations stipulate the deposit will be confiscated.

Persons travelling between various parts of China, via foreign territory, are permitted to carry a certain amount of gold, provided they produce a "huchao" ticket, or other certificates, proving that the ultimate destination is within China.

In any case, gold carried on such persons cannot exceed a half-ounce in value and excessive amounts require a deposit of equivalent value for the period of one year.

Much interest has been aroused in Chungking recently by an attempt to smuggle gold out of the country which was barely foiled. This occurred at the airport at Chungking when a Chinese passenger was about to leave by plane for Hongkong.

He was searched by the Customs authorities and bars of gold were found tied to his feet. The gold was confiscated.

SHOPS MUST CARRY ON BUSINESS

Further tightening of the Government control over the economic life in Chungking has occurred.

The Municipal Social Affairs Bureau has issued a series of regulations which order shops to continue business under any circumstances.

Approximately 466 specified shops fall under the mandatory provisions of the new regulations, including 36 foreign and Chinese restaurants, a number of stores selling Chinese and foreign medicines and numerous general stores.

The enforcement and administration of the new law will be carried on with the co-operation of local trade guilds.

The Bureau is also contemplating the establishment of five public markets for the sale of foodstuffs, the sites of three of which have already been selected in the centre of the city.

HUNT FOR SILVER

The Japanese authorities in Pao-tow have started a vigorous campaign to disgorge Chinese people of their silver hoardings. "A large number of Chinese who failed to submit their silver dollars have been arrested," says Central News.

"TELL HITLER WE ARE HIS ETERNAL ENEMIES"

WASHINGTON, May 24 (Reuters)—Senator Claude Pepper, in the Senate yesterday urged the United States to "turn the scale of battle in favour of the Allies by sending goods, money and aeroplanes immediately."

Senator Pepper also proposed that the United States should "tell Hitler that we are his eternal immortal enemies and that we will that he shall be destroyed as a political force."

He added: "If we are going to sit here day after day and content ourselves with only trying to build some protection around our country and perhaps around the Western Hemisphere, we will have committed one of the greatest tragedies in history."

LONDON, May 24 (Reuters)—In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. R. A. Butler replied in the affirmative to a question whether he was taking immediate steps to improve British relations with Russia.

British troops are still holding their positions around Arras.

In connection with the Allied counter-attacks yesterday it is pointed out here that so far no counter-attack on a large scale has been launched.

A counter-attack is expected at any time now.

There have been intense artillery duels between Rethel and Montmedy and between Montmedy and the River Meuse.

FIGHTING IN HUPEH NOW VERY FEROCIOUS SCALE

CHUNGKING, May 24 (Central)—With both the Chinese and Japanese throwing heavy forces into the field, fighting in the TsaoYang sector in north Hupeh is increasing in ferocity.

Seeking to revenge the latest defeat, Japanese columns are pushing from the northeast, northwest and southwest of TsaoYang with Changchun and Sianyang cities on the south banks of the Han River as their objective. The Japanese attempt is apparently to capture these two strategic cities and drive up-river.

Dauntless resistance is being offered by the Chinese against the enemy drive. Large numbers of Japanese crossing the Tang and Pei Rivers, tributaries of the Han River to the northwest of TsaoYang, were killed by Chinese fire. Many Japanese bodies are said to be floating in the rivers. Chinese camouflaged batteries on the banks are directing effective fire against the enemy.

CHANGED HANDS MANY TIMES

Many points around TsaoYang have changed hands several times during the last few days. TsaoYang, Taipingchen and Liuchichang to the north of TsaoYang were once again recaptured on May 22 by the Chinese after bitter fighting, while Shanghochen and Sientien to the northeast of TsaoYang were retaken on May 21. Japanese troops around Huiyangchen and Huohchen also northeast of TsaoYang were driven off.

About 2,000 Japanese troops pushing to Sientienchen to the south of Sinyeh, north of Fancheng, were encompassed in a Chinese enveloping attack on May 22, suffering heavy losses. They crossed the Tao River, a tributary of the Pei River, and fled northward.

Japanese units at Chienhochen east of Sinyeh and Luyehchen, northeast of Fancheng were also repulsed on May 22.

To the southwest of TsaoYang 4,000 Japanese troops preceded by some 60 tanks and armoured cars started a heavy assault on Tuchiachen on the morning of May 21, in an attempt to break through the Chinese lines there. About 2,000 Japanese reinforcements were brought up the following day and fighting is reported to be still in progress.

JAPANESE FOOLISHLY ATTEMPTING ASIATIC BLITZKRIEG MODEL

CHUNGKING, MAY 24 (REUTERS)—DELUDED BY THE EUROPEAN EXAMPLE, THE JAPANESE ARE FOOLISHLY ATTEMPTING AN ASIATIC MODEL OF THE BLITZKRIEG in Central China, stated a Chinese military spokesman this afternoon at the press conference.

The Japanese, in a blind emulation, overlooked a number of radically different factors in European and Chinese conditions, he said. The vastness of territory, difficulty in communications, rugged topography and inclement weather on the Central China front, all combined to doom the Japanese efforts, he stated.

No effort was made by the spokesman to conceal the tremendous force of the Japanese drive in the past few days as he admitted the loss of TsaoYang.

The strategic centre of northern Hupeh, which was recovered by Chinese forces on May 16, was retaken by the Japanese three days later. On Wednesday morning, he said, the Japanese vanguard were in sight of the key cities of Fancheng and Sianyang, on the upper Han River.

MAIN OBJECTIVE

The main objective of their drive, Sianyang, was under enemy artillery bombardment.

He added, however, that the Chinese counter-attack began on Wednesday and large bodies of reinforcements were pouring down to the front from Laohukou and drove the Japanese back across the Pei River, and released the "twin cities" from danger, the spokesman continued.

The Japanese at present are stretched on a line running from Taipingchen on the right flank to Lungshengsu on the left flank.

HOSTILE PLANES OVER CHANNEL

LONDON, May 24 (Reuters)—A large number of planes, believed to be hostile, were seen over the Channel last evening.

People on the cliffs saw that they were engaged by anti-aircraft batteries, firing apparently from the French coast.

One machine is believed to have been brought down.

RAID WARNING IN NORMANDY

PARIS, May 24 (Reuters)—Anti-aircraft guns around Paris opened fire at 10.15 p.m. and it was one of the few occasions when the puffs of smoke and bursting shells were visible over the city.

Two air raid warnings were previously reported in Normandy.

RECORD COAL OUTPUT

LONDON, May 24 (Reuters)—The Government is pursuing a comprehensive plan for a record coal output, including 50,000 additional miners and the reopening of many pits and by arranging a pooling system by which the best mines carry under marginal mines.

It is particularly needed because the Lillie coalfields produces 45,000,000 tons annually, bigger than South Wales.

SIR OSWALD MOSLEY ARRESTED UNDER EMERGENCY ORDERS

LONDON, May 24 (Reuters)—It is officially announced that Sir Oswald Mosley and other leading members of the British Union of Fascists were arrested yesterday. Others arrested were Raven Thomson, Francis Hawkins, F.E. Burdett, Capt. U. A. Hicks, C.F. Watts Mackenzie, G. Bruning and Mrs. Dacre Fox.

COMPLETE CONTROL

Special Branch officers took complete possession of the Union Headquarters and questioned everyone approaching the building.

Detectives examined all papers and documents found in the desks and cabinets as well as in the filing systems.

LORDS STATEMENT

In the House of Lords the Duke of Devonshire stated that a considerable number of people of British nationality were arrested yesterday morning.

Some of the names had already been made known and the list would be published as soon as the round up had been completed.

These people had been arrested not because of the views they hold but because their organisations might be used for the execution of acts prejudicial to the State.

Grave, Not Desperate

LONDON, May 24 (Reuters)—That the present war situation was grave no one in authority in London denies. It is, however, by no means desperate, Reuters' correspondent was told in well-informed circles last night.

Mr. Churchill's statement in the House of Commons that fighting was taking place in and around Boulogne shows the suddenness and swiftness of the German thrust at the Channel ports but though this constitutes a grave menace to the Allied line of communication, it is stated that these lines are at the moment in no immediate danger.

The strength or weakness of the whole position from the Allied point of view is the swiftness in which a counter-offensive on a scale sufficient for the purpose can be got under way and in this both the British and French armies have implicit faith in General Weygand.

In 1920, during the Russo-Polish War, he averted what seemed certain defeat for the Polish Army by turning away the Russians when they were actually at the gates of Warsaw by his brilliant strategy.

CATHOLIC NEWS & NOTES

THE CORPUS CHRISTI FESTIVAL: HILDEBRAND: RELIGION, SCIENCE

The solemn celebration of the feast of Corpus Christi, "the Body of Christ," is transferred in Hongkong to the Sunday following the Thursday on which it occurs. Therefore, it will be celebrated here tomorrow. This is the annual feast in honour of the Blessed Sacrament of the Eucharist, which provides the occasion for one of the most impressive acts of public worship of the year in Catholic countries, and for celebration by Catholic groups in their own surroundings in other countries.

The most remarkable development of this celebration in recent years has been the number of public processions held in all countries, including England, and the reverent way in which they have been received by members of other religions.

Closely associated with this feast is another that is celebrated next week, that of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. This is primarily a feast of reparation for the ingratitude shown to God. It was established some centuries later than that of Corpus Christi but it is observed with equal solemnity.

HILDEBRAND

Today is the feast of one of the most remarkable men in history, Pope St. Gregory VII, Hildebrand, the man who more than any other is responsible for the whole Catholic culture of the Middle Ages. He was an Italian of humble parentage and he was born at a time, the beginning of the eleventh century, when Catholic life was in great need of reform and when many abuses existed in the Church. He entered the Benedictine Order and went to the monastery of Cluny in France, which had become a new centre of devout spiritual life, and was recalled to Rome to take up important positions in Church administration. He was one of the outstanding figures of Church government throughout five pontificates before he was elected Pope in 1073. His tenure of the papacy was one long struggle against the encroachment of imperial power on the spiritual office of the Church.

RELIGION AND SCIENCE

The close relationship between science and religion was recently emphasized by two world-famous American scientists. Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Noble Prize winner, and Dr. Hugh S. Taylor, head of the Department of Chemistry at Princeton University, speaking on different occasions.

In a nation-wide broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Dr. Compton said that science, far from being the enemy of religion, was its ally. Dr. Taylor, addressing a large audience at St. John's University, Brooklyn, told why it is impossible to divorce science from religion. Declaring he had been "strongly impressed" by the way in which science "can be interpreted to give a moral and ethical outlook closely parallel with that taught by the highest types of religion," Dr. Compton added that their language and thought are different, but their conclusions are almost the same. "Far from being in conflict," he declared, "science has become the ally of religion. By increased knowledge of nature, we become better acquainted with the God of nature, and with the part we have to play in His cosmic drama."

ON THE SKAGER RAK

One of the Norwegian towns on the Skager Rak that was mentioned recently in the news, Arendal, was the scene last year of a remarkable Catholic ceremony. Catholics, as is well known, are few in Norway and in Arendal, a town of 12,000 inhabitants, they are a very small number, with only one priest. The editor of a paper in the town, a non-Catholic, saw a photograph of a Catholic "Blessing of the Sea" which took place in a French port, and he commented on the fact that such a function had never taken place in Norway, though half of the population lives on the sea.

He wrote on this in the paper and when the local priest, Fr. Gorrissen, saw it he offered to conduct the ceremony. People of all denominations welcomed the idea and in due course Fr. Gorrissen gave the blessing from a salient rock on a small island off Arendal where there is a cemetery for shipwrecked sailors. There was a great attendance of people of all denominations, many of whom came from long distances. Many of them have probably lost their lives in the war that has struck their country since then.

Among others the following citations will be read from the Bible:—"O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard." "For in Him we live and move, and have our being." (Psalms 66: 8; Acts 17: 28).

The following citations will also be read from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:—"Soul or Spirit signifies Deity and nothing else. There is no finite soul nor spirit. Soul is the substance, Life, and intelligence of man, which is individualized, but not in matter. Man is the expression of Soul." (Pages 496, 477).

CIRCULAR LETTER BY BISHOP VALTORTA

The following circular letter has been sent by H. E. Bishop H. Valtorta to all the Catholic Bishops in Hongkong:—

Dear Brethren in Jesus Christ. In these days when the scourge of war is heavily felt, it is our duty to intensify our prayers and also to add corporal penance in order to obtain mercy from God: "Spare, O Lord, spare Thy people whom Thou hast redeemed with Thy most precious Blood".

Believing as we do that all war comes to the world as a punishment and that the world has richly deserved it now by its widespread apostasy, its disloyalty to God, its injustice, its uncontrolled pursuit of pleasure and its neglect of God's Commandments, it is our duty towards God and towards our neighbour to pray and to do penance.

We, therefore, invite and exhort all Priests and Religious to join in a Novena of Masses, either said or heard, and also, if they are physically able to do so, to make it a Novena of fasting and other corporal penances, for the express intention of asking the mercy of God on the stricken world and the deliverance of Christian Nations from the new paganism. We also exhort the faithful who are able to do so to join in this Novena, which may begin at once or on any day of their choice.

Lastly, we exhort pious souls, who know the spiritual value of sacrifice, to generously offer themselves as victims to God in union with the Divine Victim of Calvary and of the Altar for the salvation of this sinful world.

And may God have mercy on us all.

Hongkong, The Feast of Corpus Christi, 1940.

STORY OF BRITISH COMMONWEALTH

THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH, LIKE THE BRITISH CONSTITUTION, is rather the gradual outcome of past experiences, past personal relationships, combined with a present recognition of the principle of individual and national freedom, than any deliberate ruling. It allows for unity without oppression, for freedom without irksome demands and loyalty without subservience. The term British Commonwealth is not old. It was coined as a convenient title for the combination of free nations under the British crown. Its first official use was in 1921 in the Anglo-Irish Treaty of that date, but it had become a popular method of speaking of the Empire some years earlier.

General Smuts in particular used the term a great deal during his stay in Great Britain during the last war. It was really a compromise in place of "Empire" which seemed to imply that the British political system resembled other "empires" past or present, which had been built up by conquest and maintained by force.

What is new—or rather relatively new—is the application of the principle embodied in the term "commonwealth" to territories under British rule whose population is not of British stock, though there is an instance, in 1791 when the French province in Canada received a political system similar to that of the neighbouring English-speaking province.

Since then the application of the principle has grown until it can be stated with truth that today there is no territory in the British Empire where British rule is maintained by force rather than by consent.

SPONTANEOUS OFFERS

The best evidence of the wisdom of "ruling by consent" is seen in the fact that in 1839 as in 1914 the outbreak of war, instead of leading to disturbances within the Empire as the Germans hoped, has brought about a closing of the ranks and spontaneous offers of assistance from the most varied and distant portions of the King's dominions.

The only fraction of the Empire which has remained neutral in the present war is Southern Ireland. But even there, where we are paying the price of political mistakes in the past, Mr. de Valera has taken occasion to rebuke those who would have liked to use the war as an opportunity for embarrassing Great Britain.

The principle of the British Commonwealth is, somewhat difficult to express as it is a human as well as a political principle. It expresses itself in individual character more than in any particular set of institutions, but, broadly speaking, we can say that it is a combination of a deep attachment to individual liberty combined with a strong sense of social responsibility. This combination was early established in England and led to the characteristic British safeguards of 1215 is a type, for the protection of the individual against arbitrary action by the Government. This stressing of individual freedom as against coercive action has become the guiding principle of British law.

PARLIAMENT

Then came the establishment of Parliament and the steady growth of its power, culminating in the Civil War of the Seventeenth Century, which left England a securely constitutional country, with the law and the Parliamentary law-makers superior to the executive.

It was at this time of political growth that Englishmen began to establish communities beyond the seas. The men who went to America and later to Australia and New Zealand, were of the same type as those who had vindicated individual liberty, rule of law and self-governing institutions in the Mother Country. Thus the communities they established were "Commonwealths" and the name still survives in the title: "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts".

DEPARTMENT FOR STABILISING PRICES IN SZECHUEN

CHUNGKING, May 23 (Reuter).—A Department for Price Stabilisation has been organised by the Szechuen Provincial Government with a capital of $20,000,000 subscribed partly by the Ministry of Economic Affairs and partly by the Provincial Treasury.

The work of the Department will be centred at Chengtu where the aggravated price situation, particularly that of rice, causes much discontent.

UNDERSELLING MARKET

Recently the Government sent 40,000 piculs of rice on 150 hand carts to Chengtu to undersell the local market quotation.

The new department will also deal in other daily necessities such as cloth and salt. Its work will be parallel to that of the National Price Stabilisation Commission of Chungking, which at present is importing large quantities of goods from coastal centres in an effort to bring down the local prices.

NO SHORTAGE OF NECESSITIES

It is pointed out that Szechuen faces no shortage of daily necessities since the average annual rice supplies in the province amounts to 10 million piculs.

The present rice situation is believed to be the result of manipulations, since production of goods in the capital was greatly expanded last year.

According to official figures released today, Chungking monthly produces 60,000 bolts of cloth, 10 thousand dozen socks and stockings and almost 4 thousand bags of yarn as well as 8 thousand bags of flour.

All Possible Help For Allies

CASH AND CARRY RULE SHOULD BE WAIVED

TORONTO, May 24 (Reuter).—Mr. Daniel Roper, former United States Secretary of Commerce, and former Minister to Canada, expressed dissatisfaction "with our American situation in respect of credits for the Allies" in a speech here.

Mr. Roper declared that supplies of all kinds should be conveyed to the Allies in every possible way, by barter or otherwise. Both the Neutrality Law and the Johnson Act should be amended to meet American responsibilities in respect of the present-day crisis. All essential supplies should be exempted from the cash and carry restrictions.

Mr. Roper expressed the view that had the terms of the Versailles Treaty been less drastic, and had the United States joined the League of Nations promptly, they would never have heard of Hitler.

Over 350 Chinese from the Philippines and the Netherlands East Indies arrived in Shanghai on May 16.

LLOYD TRIESTINO LINERS CANCEL EASTWARD RUNS

SHANGHAI, May 24 (Reuter).—Lloyd Triestino express liners will not call again in Shanghai after the Conte Verde leaves here on June 9, according to a cable received by the local Agent who was informed that until further notice the departure of express liners from Trieste has been suspended.

It is pointed out, however, that the present information to the local office specifies "until further notice." The Conte Verde is at present en route to the Far East and will call at Colombo today. She is expected in Hongkong on June 4, after calling at Singapore and Manila.

LOCAL AGENT'S STATEMENT

The local office of Lloyd Triestino has received a cable from the Head Office in Trieste informing the Agent here that until further notice departures of express liners from Trieste have been suspended. The cable received by the local office is from the Head Office at Trieste and not from Rome. Mr. G.B. Scarpa told the Hongkong Daily Press yesterday.

Cabled reports from Shanghai erroneously give Rome as the source of the cable received by the Shanghai Office of Lloyd Triestino. Freighters will not be affected by the order, and will continue on their normal routes to the East.

The cancellation of summer traffic for passenger express liners from Trieste to the Far East had been considered for some time and the present information to the local office specifies "until further notice."

The Conte Verde is at present en route to the Far East and will call at Colombo today. She is expected in Hongkong on June 4, after calling at Singapore and Manila.

The Conte Rosso, en route to Trieste, calls at Colombo tomorrow and is expected to reach her home port on June 7. She should have sailed for the Far East again on June 14, but this sailing is now suspended until further notice.

THE DEATH OF AMARAL AND THE VICTORY OF THE LION'S PASS

BY "JAY MARTIN"

THE DAY WAS HOT AND STIFLING, AND IN THE GOV-ERNMENT HOUSE THE HEAT WAS NO LESS OPPRESSIVE THAN ELSEWHERE IN THE LITTLE CITY.

Joao Maria Ferreira do Amaral, Governor of Macao, laid down his pen and looked out through the open window at the yellow-sailed junks in the bay beyond. Somewhere in the building a clock struck five.

The Governor, who was a medium-sized man, with dark and thin features and a thin beard, arose from his desk and went to his room to prepare to leave the Palace for a ride near the Porta do Cerco as was wont his daily custom. This ride was a popular one with Amaral for here was the scene of some of his most arduous administrative labours. He had planned the improvement of all the areas between the city-gate and the barrier-gate.

A large part of this district was mired and studded with grave-mounds, the contents of which were often disinterred by the elements and the stench of which filled the surrounding atmosphere with the unearthly odour of human putrefaction.

For three centuries long, fifth and dirt had been allowed to accumulate on these grounds, and the Governor, soon after his taking of office, had ordered their removal as a plague-threatening sore-spot to the city.

An hour later, accompanied by his adjutant, Lieutenant Leite, Amaral left the Palace. The pair rode through the cobble-stoned streets, but before they were halfway to the city-gate, they met a horse-carriage coming towards them in the opposite direction. It was Dona Maria Pereira, the wife of Comendador Lourenco

Marques, one of the leading residents of Macao, and her nephew, Senhor Manuel Pereira (who, years later, was the father of Mr. Edouardo Pereira, of the Yokohama Branch of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation). The pair greeted the Governor and his companion who stopped the carriage to return the greetings.

RATHER DANGEROUS

Learning that the Governor was on his way to his usual ride and that he was going beyond the barrier-gate to give alms to an aged, infirm Chinese woman who lived on his bounty, Dona Maria Marques asked Amaral if he did not think it rather dangerous to exercise himself in such a desolate locality, and expressed her fear for his safety.

"I am afraid of nothing," the Governor reassured the lady.
Dona Maria Marques and her nephew continued their ride while Amaral and his adjutant rode on towards their destination. Some minutes later they passed through the city-gate.

As the pair entered through the barrier-gate, they beheld a small group of Chinese, standing together some three hundred paces from the Porta do Cerco, who were watching them with curious interest.

One of the men detached himself from the group and came towards them. Amaral drew rein and watched the approaching native but Lieutenant Leite, perhaps sensing premonition of some evil, implored the Governor to turn back and return immediately with him to the city, but Amaral gave no heed to his adjutant's pleas.

A GESTURE

The Chinese stopped, because Amaral's horse and held out a scroll of paper with a gesture that completely deceived the Governor into believing that the man was presenting him with a petition of some sort. Amaral laid the end of his rein over the pommel of his saddle (he was handicapped in the possession of only one arm, having lost the other in battle at Itapapirica, near Bahia, in 1823) and stretched out his hand to receive the paper. As he did so, the other whipped out a hatchet from under his clothes.

Amaral put the rein between his teeth and turned to draw his sword out of its scabbard, but before he could do it his assailant had hacked at his arm and severed it completely. Struck by the blow and pain at his arm, Amaral reeled in his saddle and toppled to the ground. As though this were a signal, the other Chinese rushed towards the horses, brandishing weapons which they had also drawn out from under their clothes. Lieutenant Leite whipped his horse round and spurred it forward only in time and dashed madly back to the city to raise the alarm.

The hour was then six-thirty and the sun was already beginning to set.

Meanwhile, in the city, Dona Maria Marques and her nephew were nearing the family residence in camoens' Garden when they heard the alarm signal. The lady turned to her relative.

"I fear something has happened to the Governor," she exclaimed.

ARMED PARTY

The carriage discharged them at the house and was returning to its stable when it met on the way an armed party of soldiers and citizens hurrying out of the city.
The carriage was promptly commandeered, and it was a silent and strange-looking procession that marched out of the city towards the spot where Amaral had fallen.

TO BE CONTINUED

LONDON, May 24 (Reuter).—In the House of Lords yesterday, statements on the War and the present political situation in India, similar to those made in Commons, were given by Lord Caldecote and the Duke of Devonshire, Under-Secretary of State for India.

The Treachery Bill was received from Commons and passed through all stages.

LONDON, May 24 (Reuter).—It is learned in London that a small British force operating in the Mosjoen area, in Norway, recently engaged greatly superior enemy forces and killed seventy Germans before they withdrew with the loss of only one killed.

JAPAN'S GOOD WISHES TO ITALY

ROME, May 24 (Reuter).—Mr.
Sato, head of the Japanese goodwill mission to Italy, handed Signor Mussolini a message from Mr.
Yonal, stating that in this grave hour for Europe the Japanese nation recalls with the deepest sympathy and friendship the noble efforts of Fascist Italy in the interests of international justice.

Japan wishes these efforts the most complete success. The message added that the co-operation of two countries constituted a "magnificent light in the darkness of a world of disorder."

AIR DEFENCE DEPARTMENT

OTTAWA, May 24 (Reuter).— Both the House of Commons and the Senate have passed a Government Bill setting up a new Air Defence department.

Mr. Charles G. Power will direct air force activity and will also have jurisdiction over the Commonwealth Air Training scheme.

He pledges himself and his associates to produce results as quickly as possible.

Canada's heavy industries, ship builders and plane manufacturers are complying with the Government's request to speed up the output by working night and day, including Sundays and holidays.

The Canadian air fields are scenes of intense activity as thousands of young men from all over the Empire are gathering there for training.

Word has been received in Shanghai that Myles Donal and Jerry, younger brothers of M. C. C.
O'Connell, of the S.M. Secretariat, have resigned their positions in Dublin, and have crossed over to London, and enlisted as privates in the British Army.

H. E. R. de L. Lago, the Brazilian Minister in China, and his family, returned to Peiping on May 19.

PEOPLE ARE IN FINE FETTER—STEED

"Is not this the appointed time to make the utmost exertion in their power?"

NO HOLDING BACK

The speaker then went on to say that the combination of the Labour and Trade Union leaders in the Government was a guarantee that there will be no holding back and everybody will fight and work ceaselessly for final victory.

"We have a clearer notion now as regards what we are fighting against," said Mr. Wickham Steed, who continued that the appalling horrors of the Nazi concentration camps had been brought home more forcibly to us since Norway, Denmark and now Holland, had fallen under German domination.

Last Monday, said the speaker, we were told the true meaning of the German penal code which is to the effect that malicious or agitating utterances against the Nazis, or any of its leaders, would be punishable by the German Special Courts, regardless of whether such utterances were made by people of the occupied States, or foreigners who were in the said countries.

The penalty for such utterances includes the sentence of death by beheading.

APPALLING FATE

It was appalling what fate has befallen Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark and Holland, and if Hitler had his way there would be hardly a public man or writer in England, or France, who would not be dealt by this German Special Court.

"So," said Mr. Wickham Steed,
"it is war to the death against Nazism."

Continuing, the speaker said that it would not be true to say that we were not moved by the revelation by the French Premier during the week of the actual state of affairs.

"We were moved, but not frightened," he said, and then continued that the appointments of Marshal Petain and General Weygand had put fresh courage in our hearts.

The Germans gave a distorted version of what M. Reynaud said, and it was not until some little time after that the position was cleared up. M. Reynaud was reported by the Nazis to have said that only a miracle could save France. The truth, however, was that after paying a tribute to the admirable Royal Force, M. Reynaud said:

"France and England cannot be beaten; they cannot die. If people say to me that a miracle is needed to save France I would say I believe in a miracle. I believe in France."

GEN. WEYGAND Added to this was the conviction of General Weygand who, after a tour of inspection said that he was full of confidence that if every person did his duty all would be well. Gen. Weygand said that if we could hold out for a month then we would have gone three-quarters of the way towards victory.

The speaker then said if he might venture a personal opinion he would take Gen. Weygand's statement quite literally for he knew Gen. Weygand very well and half a word from this gallant soldier carried more weight than a whole sentence from other people.

Gen. Weygand's mind worked with a swiftness that was disconcerting to people who were slower and his eyes and hands kept pace with his mind.

FULLEST TRUST

Marshal Petain, too, despite his 84 years, was ever alert and as Mr.
Winston Churchill said, he had the fullest confidence in these two leaders, together with M. Reynaud and M. Daladier. "France trusts them, and we can trust them to the full."

Mr. Wickham Steed then went on to refer to the magnificent effort of Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand. He mentioned also the marked sympathy of India, and though it belonged to another category, the growing determination of America to help in every way possible. He said this was evidence of the determination of civilised people to save civilisation.

EVIL WILL BE UNDONE
"I can see cause for abundant comfort and hope that the evil men and evil things will be undone," the speaker said. "We will hit back and we will hold on."
"We shall hold on—we are hitting back. The Germans are feeling this in the far interior of their mechanised barbarism."

"We shall keep on hitting back until the Hell-sent Fuehrer and his devilish system waivers and breaks, and cry enough."

"We, France and Belgium, shall decide what is enough."
